On the business scene Mark Kreditor's Get There First Realty Services (GTF) was recently awarded the prestigious Certified Residential Management Company (CRMC) designation from the National Association of Residential Property Managers (NARPM). Only four other companies in the country have qualified for this designation which required an on site audit of their management systems and a detailed policy and procedure system in place.

Mark Kreditor

"The best total package in owning residential rentals must include competent management," says Kreditor, President and Broker of Get There First Realty in Dallas. His firm has been active in rental property management for over 15 years and manages over 700 rental properties.

Kreditor established GTF in 1981 and it is now one of the Southwest's largest service operators within the individual residential market.

In the local community, Mark composed the Solomon Schechter Academy school song and performed it with their students at their annual Zimrayah program. As a professional pianist, he has performed for residents at Golden Acres and the JCC senior groups for many years. A former board member of Cong. Beth Torah and the Jewish National Fund, he was recently asked to design a course for Elderhostel to be taught in 1998.
